William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt were inaugurated President and Vice President of the United States Monday with elaborate ceremonials. The Fiftysixth Congress closed at noon on the same day. All the regular appropriation bills were passed except the river and harbor bill, the passage of which was prevented in the Senate through the efforts of Mr. Carter of Montana, who occupied the floor during the closing hours with a speech denouncing the improprieties of the measure. S. N., superintendent of the naval observatory, against Prof. S. Brown of the observatory staff. Delaware legislature adjourned sine die without electing senators to fill the vacan-cles in Congress. The Montana legislature, on the eve of final adjournment, elected Paris Gibson, democrat, to fill the senato

A new cabinet under Sagasta was formed in Madrid. Riotous demonstrations by Irish members mark ed the sessions of the British parliament, culmination in the forcible ejection of twelve of the disturbers from the session; Lord Wolseley in the house of lords criti-cised the management of the war office; in the commons War Secretary Broderick an-nounced plans of army reform; it was an-EMMANUEL CHURCH, S.E. All plans for the inauguration were successfully executed; the city was visited by over 100,000 people; some disorder occurred among the visiting militiamen, generally being ascribed in the main to the Pennsylvania troops, and a controversy arose as to the responsibility and the remedy to prevent similar scenes at future inaugurals. In the final adjustment of legislation the District lost the proposed Memorial bridge and, through the failure of the river and harbor bill, all provision for the Potomac and Ana-costia improvements. FEED CHILDREN

ON PROPERLY SELECTED FOOD. 17 PAYS BIG If parents will give just a little intelligent thought to the feeding of their children the difference in the health of the little folks will pay, many times over, for the small trouble.

A mother writes, saying: "Our children are all so much better and stronger than they have ever been since we made a change in the character of the food. We have quit using potatoes three times a day, with coffee and so much meat. Now we give the little folks some fruit, either fresh, stewed canned, some Grape-Nuts with cream, occasion ally some soft boiled eggs, and some Postum Food Coffee for breakfast and supper. Then for dinner they have some meat and vegetables. It would be hard to realize the change in the children, they have grown so sturdy and strong, and we attribute this change to the food elements that, I under-stand, exist in Grape-Nuts and Postum.
